Important OSAP Information for Students

Withdrawing from Full Time Studies

It is important that students contact Centennial College Student Financial Services office to discuss your particular situation and circumstances in person and to be absolutely sure you have the accurate information necessary to keep your loans in good standing. The documentation is prepared ONLY as a guide for your informational purposes.

OSAP Withdrawal Implications

Once you withdraw from full-time studies or drop below 60% of a full-time course load (below 40% for students registered as Special Needs). Your OSAP file will be reassessed using your last day of full-time attendance as your withdrawal date. This reassessment may in fact result in your OSAP file being in an “overpaid” situation. (For future study, any overpayment may result in you being deemed ineligible for OSAP for any future study. See your Student Financial Services officer now so you know your status.

By withdrawing from full-time studies you relinquish any entitlement to an Ontario Student Opportunity Grant for the academic year. You will be responsible for replaying the entire amount of the OSAP loans you have negotiated for the current school year even if you had been advised previously that you may be considered for an Ontario Student Opportunity Grant. See your Student Financial Service officer for further information.

Have you returned all of your Library Materials to the Library?

Do you have any outstanding fines at the Library?

Before you go, please be sure that your library account at the Library is clear. That means that all library materials have been returned and all fines for overdue or lost materials have been paid.

Your library account must be clear so that you can receive your transcripts and register at Centennial College again in the future.

To check your account, please visit the Libraries or call 416-289-5000:
